

Galena Park Independent School District

District of Innovation

PROCESS and TIMELINE

INTRODUCTION

House Bill 1842, created in the 84th Legislative Session, provides opportunities for traditional independent school districts to exempt themselves from some parts of the Texas Education Code (TEC), giving them the same flexibility currently available to Texas' open enrollment charter schools. In order to utilize this opportunity, independent school districts must first become a District of Innovation by following a prescribed course of action outlined in statute. Galena Park ISD's process and timeline are described below.

DISTRICT OF INNOVATION PROCESS AND TIMELINE

- ★ May 2016: District leadership became aware of HB 1842, and representatives attended an informational session hosted by Region 4 Education Service Center.
- ★ July 2016: District administrators met to determine if it would benefit Galena Park ISD to pursue designation as a District of Innovation. The decision was made to move forward with the process citing the benefits to students and staff of Galena Park ISD.
- ★ August 8, 2016: The Galena Park ISD Board of Trustees began the formal process by unanimously passing a Resolution to explore the possibility of Galena Park ISD becoming a District of Innovation.
- ★ August 23, 2016: At a special called Galena Park ISD Board of Trustees meeting, District staff conducted a Public Hearing to consider developing a local innovation plan.
 - After the Public Hearing, the Board of Trustees approved, as presented, the District of Innovation Advisory Committee comprised of 25 campus / district staff members and representatives from district stakeholder groups, such as the local chapter representatives from the Texas Classroom Teachers Association (TCTA), Association of Texas Professional Educators (ATPE), Retired Educators Association, Teacher Leadership Council, Community Leadership Council, and local Ministers' Alliance.
